5. Content

Summary of content by theme (providing a 'vertical' view through the programme)
The BA (Hons) Business & Marketing programme provides the essential knowledge and understanding, skills and experience required for graduates to operate effectively and successfully in a business environment. Core areas of the programme focus on the marketing function, the understanding of economics, management and operations, as well as external context, including legal and ethical issues. Core modules also provide knowledge relating to e-business, e-marketing, marketing communications, service marketing and marketing strategy. Integrated within the study of the subject material of core modules is the development of IT and intellectual skills related to the analysis of qualitative and quantitative information, critical thinking and problem-solving. A range of employability skills are developed and practised, including effective communication, numerical proficiency, ICT applications, self-management, autonomous learning and team-working. The learning outcomes of the programme match those set out in the UK QAA subject benchmark statement for Business and Management subjects, tailored to a marketing context. This provision correlates with the requirements of the marketing function as it provides a solid foundation in all key areas of business and management together with integral strategic view. It also enables the performance of a broad range of marketing roles and is fully in line with the professional external requirements of such internationally recognised professional organisations as the UK Chartered Institute of Marketing (CIM). Those interested in enhancing their professional credentials will be well equipped to progress through accelerated route into professional qualifications (Chartered Marketeer status) or benefit from further professional development and networking opportunities through CIM membership at the appropriate level, which will enhance their graduate employability in line with LTUC institutional aims. Equally, students will benefit from the focus on the issues of Marketing Communications, Service Marketing, Marketing Strategy & Planning and International Marketing, which covers all major areas of this profession.

The programme starts at Level 4 from building foundations of Business Economics, Management and Financial Accounting and Marketing Fundamentals. Core modules of Managerial & Organisational Behaviour and Operations Management introduce the importance of people management in the context of business and marketing operations. Professional Development & Placement 1, which incorporates both personal (academic, information retrieval, self-management, etc.) and professional (team working, communication, employability, etc.) skills, concludes with a period of professional work placement to provide experience of the practical application of business and marketing skills and knowledge in an actual workplace environment, including volunteering options, and includes the creation of personal development and career plan.

Level 5 provides on-going study of intermediate level knowledge of Financial Management. A core module also secures knowledge relating to a range of Legal Issues for Managers: business, corporate and employment laws, as well as relevant legal and regulatory issues. The Marketing Communications and Service Marketing modules are focused on a spectrum of elements of the marketing communications mix and their effectiveness, within today's marketing environment and explore similarities and differences between service and manufacturing sectors marketing.

Integrated within the study of the subject material of core modules is further development and practice of appropriate subject specific, intellectual and transferable skills already introduced at Level 4. Thus, for example, Financial Management will further develop ICT skills, quantitative skills and problem-solving skills.

Following Professional Development and Placement 2, a second period of professional work placement at Level 5 provides further experience of the practical application of business and marketing skills and knowledge in an actual work place environment, including volunteering options. In addition to a job and organisational analysis, similar to that conducted at Level 4, the Level 5 includes an employability focused job-market study, confirming personal career choice (selected LTUC programme) and objectives, which culminates in a fully developed career plan.

At Level 6 core modules provide advanced level knowledge of Business & Management Strategy, Marketing Strategy & Planning, and 21st century E-business & E-marketing techniques which have an integrative role and are based on all previous studies, as well as business-oriented research methods – Introduction to Research module. This enables and prepares students for the design and execution of a Research Project. Alternatively students can take an option of Professional Learning through Work, if appropriate agreement has been gained (they need to negotiate the topic with their placement provider / potential employer and their supervisor).

At Level 6 the flexibility of choosing 2 out of 5 options allows students to make the focus on international business (International Marketing and International Management modules), responsible business and marketing (Business Ethics and Entrepreneurship, Creativity & Innovation), leading marketing and business teams (Leadership and International Management) or any other depending on their interests.

All of these advanced studies at Level 6 enhance the development of transferable skills embodying an appropriate degree of self-awareness, planning and autonomous learning. In particular the Research Project module develops skills in the design, conduct and evaluation of full cycle small scale research of a business issue.

The PLA is marked on a Pass/Fail basis and you must achieve a pass in the PLA to pass the first year and progress into Level 5 (also see the section on Taught Course Academic Regulations).

7. Learning, teaching and assessment

7a) Statement of the strategy for learning, teaching and assessment for the programme

The programme focuses on essential business and management knowledge acquisition at Level 4, more detailed and specific business and management subject knowledge acquisition and application at Level 5 and advanced and specialised knowledge of business and marketing strategy, corporate sustainability and independent study at Level 6.

At Level 4 transferable skills such as those used for communication, quantitative work, ICT and employability skills are emphasised. At Level 5 transferable skills continue to be practised in addition to the development of subject specific context of a range of intellectual skills including analysis and problem solving. At Level 6 the emphasis is on the application of higher level intellectual skills including critical thinking, analysis, evaluation, synthesis and hypothesis formulation and are further developed relating to the design and conduct of research. Level 6 subject studies include the development of intellectual skills to equip students to make informed choices relating to considerations of ethics, social responsibility and sustainability together with an appreciation of moral awareness and sensitivity to diversity.

Gaining appropriate experience in an actual work situation to allow the application of knowledge and the practice and development of skills is essential for the business and management programme. Two periods of structured professional work placement are integrated into the programme at Level 4 and 5 for this purpose and can be followed up with a Professional Learning through Work project at Level 6. Throughout the programme all students will receive learning support and guidance from an individually assigned Progress Tutor including assistance in the completion of a personal development plan and career plan.

Learning will be supported with the structured delivery of subject material in, mainly, 3-hour teaching sessions which combine lectures and workshops where learning can be consolidated through group activity and class-based exercises. In particular at Level 4 the emphasis on transferable skills acquisition will enable autonomous learning to develop early in the programme. This mode of learning will become increasingly important as students progress from Level 4 to Level 6. All students will engage in research project at Level 6. If students are able to obtain the required permissions they may also conduct their research project in cooperation with an identified organisation via the Professional Learning through Work module. It is envisaged that students may develop effective contacts to facilitate this through their Level 4 and 5 work placements. At Level 5 experiential and active learning are important elements in the development of vocational knowledge and understanding. To meet this requirement applied exercises, case studies, role-play, practical workshops, management games, business simulation, group and project work form part of the teaching strategy of the programme.

To facilitate the progression of students into a marketing career there will be a focus on inviting qualified and active marketing and business practitioners and entrepreneurs as guest speakers, visiting lecturers and mentors to students as appropriate.

A wide range of assessment modes is used to allow students to demonstrate their level of knowledge understanding and skills proficiency. Taught modules are usually assessed by two elements and include: examination papers; individual presentations; personal development plans; essays; case studies; reports and group projects. As students progress from Level 4 to 6 assessments will require the demonstration of appropriate levels of subject knowledge and understanding, subject specific skills, intellectual skills and the effective use of transferable skills. In particular assessment will focus on the appropriate development of higher level intellectual skills including critical thinking, analysis, evaluation, synthesis, and hypothesis formulation within the context of specific subject material.

Applicants should normally have achieved the following prior to registration for the programme:
5 academic or vocational qualifications, of which at least 2 should be GCE or VCE 'A' levels (or equivalent at level 3) and one should be GCSE English Language at grade C (or equivalent).

Some equivalent qualifications and the current typical offer conditions in terms of UCAS Tariff points are detailed in the undergraduate prospectus. For students whose first language is not English a pass in an approved test in English is needed, eg. the International English Language Testing Service (IELTS) and the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). International students with an IELTS score of less than 6.5 must take the additional English for Academic Purposes modules at Level 4 and 5. the module will be mandatory by default, but international students with IELTS scores 6.5 and higher, may be exempted from this module (subject of successfully passing internal LTUC language test and module leader's assessment); in such a situation they will do PDP1 & 2 instead.

Applications are welcome from those with few or no formal qualifications. Any previous relevant work experience and learning will be assessed and, where appropriate, accredited as part of the application process. Please see the College's Assessment of Prior Learning (APL) procedures.

9. Progression, classification and award requirements
