2. Aims of the programme

Rationale and general aims, including what is special about this programme (from the student's and a marketing perspective)
The aim of the Foundation Year is to provide you with an introduction to issues and questions that have been asked by psychologists and, if relevant to your chosen degree course, criminologists and sociologists. You will be encouraged to explore issues such as human development, identity, inequality and, if relevant, criminality. You will also gain an understanding of the ways that psychologists explain social life. You will be able to discuss several social and psychological questions. In addition to these opportunities, you will also learn about the solutions that academics in these areas have presented to address concerns that they have identified. You will therefore be provided with an opportunity to actively develop your knowledge of psychology whilst gaining specialised tuition in core academic skills. Through this process it is anticipated that your confidence and readiness for Level 4 study will be enhanced. This programme offers you an alternative entry route for undergraduate study if you are not in a position to commence your university studies at Level 4. Therefore, the Psychology Foundation Year pathway aims to provide access to higher education for students who may otherwise be excluded from university study. For example, you might not have the usual entry requirements to commence learning at Level 4. It is also intended to be a useful pathway for students who have been out of education for a number of years. You may also wish to further build your confidence before studying at Level 4. The Foundation Year in Psychology pathway consequently endeavours to promote a widening of participation in higher education. On completion of the Foundation Year, you should be well equipped to go on to Level 4 study on one of the named linked honours degree programmes in psychology. For psychology degrees, you will need GCSEs in English and Mathematics at grade C or equivalent qualifications. These qualifications will be required before you enter your foundation year to progress on to study psychology linked honours degrees.

3. Student learning outcomes at the level of Foundation Certificate. The learning outcomes for full degree Levels 4 – 6 are described in the relevant Programme Specification.

Learning outcomes in terms of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – knowledge and understanding (K) – intellectual / cognitive / 'thinking' skills (I) – practical skills specific to the subject (P) – employability skills (E) The 'K1', etc codes are used in section 7c) and module descriptors to refer to each of these learning outcomes.
On successful completion of the foundation year, students will have demonstrated: K1 knowledge of the issues that are focused upon in psychology and, if relevant to the chosen degree, criminology and sociology.

- K2 knowledge of psychological concepts and, if relevant, concepts in criminology and sociology.
- K3 an understanding of the basic theories from psychology and, if relevant, criminology and sociology.
- K4 knowledge of technical terminology and scholarly conventions of psychology and, if relevant, criminology and sociology.
- K5 knowledge of how to effectively present academic work in a variety of forms
- I1 ability to identify and comment on psychological concepts and, if relevant, those from criminology and sociology.
- I2 ability to complete a range of assessments.
- I3 ability to recognise and describe several theoretical positions that are provided by psychologists and, if relevant, criminologists and sociologists.
- I4 ability to present results that draw appropriately upon scholarly research and debate

Employability skills

- E1 Self-management – the ability to plan and manage time; readiness to accept responsibility and improve their own performance based on feedback/reflective learning; the ability to take initiative and be proactive, flexible and resilient

3a External benchmarks

Statement of congruence with the relevant published subject benchmark statements

The subject benchmark statement that is particularly relevant to this programme is the QAA subject benchmark statement for Psychology (2019).

4. Learning outcomes for subsidiary awards

Guidance
The assessment strategy is designed so that each of these outcomes is addressed by more than one module at Level 3.	Generic Learning outcomes for the award of Foundation Certificate in Psychology: On successful completion of 120 credits at Level 3, students will be able to access this award if they formally state that they do not wish to further pursue their studies at Level 4 study on one of the linked pathways to the Foundation Year in Psychology. They must have demonstrated an ability to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">i) describe key concepts in psychology and, if relevant, in criminology and sociology.ii) outline several different psychological theories and, if relevant, criminological and sociological theories;iii) communicate their knowledge and awareness coherently, using appropriate scholarly conventions and techniques;iv) undertake a sustained project on a psychology topic.

5. Content

Summary of content by theme

(providing a 'vertical' view through the programme)

The Psychology Foundation Year is designed to provide students with: (1) an introduction to psychology (and criminology/sociology as appropriate to the degree programme), (2) the skills that will allow them to make a successful progression to Level 4 study and (3) an opportunity to undertake a sustained investigation on topic of their choice in area related to their intended future undergraduate studies.

The modules of the Psychology foundation year can be grouped into the following strands:

Study Skills, Confidence Building and Project Work

7. Learning, teaching and assessment

7a) Statement of the strategy for learning, teaching and assessment for the programme

The learning and teaching provision on the Foundation Year in Psychology is aligned with the central goals, objectives and features of the University's Learning, Teaching and Assessment Strategy 2020-2023. It will provide an experience which is student-centred; teaching which is responsive to the needs of individual students; and a framework within which students are encouraged to begin to their abilities to engage in critical thinking and analytical skills. These are however contextualised within the nature of Level 3.

The following approaches are prioritised in the foundation year of the linked Psychology degrees:

Learning

The focus will be on ensuring that students have an opportunity to develop their understandings of key concepts that are introduced in each module by applying them through active enquiry, practical research tasks, exercises, and collaborative projects.

A Progressive Learning Structure is built into the course design:

Students will begin their Level 3 by having an opportunity to develop their academic skills and confidence, before having an opportunity to apply these when they study a negotiated topic of choice for the Project module in semester 2. How to effectively engage in academic writing, orally presentation and research information will be focused upon in the first semester of the foundation year. In their studies of psychology, sociology and criminology students will begin by looking at key issues before applying psychological or sociological concepts and theories to these.

Teaching

- Student-Led Enquiry: The main form of teaching session will be seminars and workshops, where concepts and skills introduced by the lecturer will be learned through practical application – specific tasks, problem-solving and discussion, with regular provision of formative feedback on those activities.
- Directed Activities: Although students will not undertake directed activities at Level 0, students will be set regular activities that will require completion outside formal classes. Formative feedback will be provided on these.
- Use of VLE: To support student-led inquiry, learning materials and resources are supplied in advance via Moodle. Resources offered include bespoke videos and podcasts; links to external sites and online resources; online quizzes; and access to all handouts, powerpoints, etc. In addition, all seminars will be followed by a student-led summary of key points learned and discussed, posted on Moodle.
- Use of other online resources and technology: Full use will be made, in teaching sessions, independent study, and assessment, of online resources available to support an understanding of psychology, sociology, criminology and academic skills.

Assessment:

- Formative Assessment: Students will have access to formative assessment in every module that they study on. This will usually take the form of feedback on specific tasks given in teaching sessions, online feedback, or feedback on outline plans for assessed work.

- Diversity of Assessment methods: Assessment methods will be varied in form and credit value.
- Negotiated Assessment: Students will have the opportunity, in SOC3103 Project to negotiate the mode of assessment. Forms of negotiated assessment might include: video, podcast, written project.

8. Entry requirements

Honours degree programmes

Applicants should normally have achieved the following prior to registration for the programme:

5 academic or vocational qualifications, at least one of which should be a GCE 'A' level (or equivalent at level 3) and one should be GCSE English Language at grade C or above (or equivalent). For such students the entry tariff will usually be 32 tariff entry points or above at entry to the foundation year.

It is not a requirement that one 'A' level should be in psychology or a related subject. A wide range of other subjects can be considered relevant. Those wishing to progress to a linked psychology honours degrees will however be required to have grade C or above at GCSE in Mathematics as well as GCSE English before they can progress onto these pathways.

For students whose first language is not English, a pass in an approved test in English is needed, e.g. the International English Language Testing Service (IELTS), with no component below 5.5, or equivalent test.

Applications are welcome from mature students with few or no formal qualifications. Any previous relevant work experience and learning will be assessed and, where appropriate, accredited as part of the application process. Please see Leeds Trinity's Principles and Guidelines for the Recognition of Prior Learning.

9. Progression, classification and award requirements

Details of requirements for student progression between levels and receipt of the award(s)

(A certain level of attainment which must be achieved in a specific module; any modules exempted from condonement, any deviation from the standard institutional stipulations for award classification, eg. exclusion of Level 4 module marks from Foundation Degree classification)

The standard progression requirements, as set out in the current Taught Course Academic Regulations, will apply.

You will have to pass the Foundation Year to progress to a named linked honours degree programme.

All modules are exempt from condoned failure and must be passed for progression.

10. Prerequisites

Details of modules which must be passed before enrolment on a module at a higher level.

None

11. External examining arrangements

External examining arrangements

(eg. joint with another programme – extended duties for someone already in post – or separate, single/multiple examiners; if multiple examiners, which subjects / types of module are to be allocated to each; any PSRB requirements)

As the Foundation Year is Level 3, no external examination will be undertaken. This arrangement is in line with the Level 4 pathways that are available on the named linked honours degrees. All level 5 and 6 in linked degrees will be the subject of external examination. Rigorous moderation of students' marks will however be carried out by foundation year tutors.

12. Additional information

Details regarding arrangements in respect of any special features of the programme/scheme, (eg. a non-standard delivery pattern, study abroad, a field course, specific work placement, opportunities for onward progression from foundation degrees, constraints on out-of-programme optional module choices)

Placements are not part of the Foundation Year and students will access this opportunity when they progress to Level 4 and beyond.

13. Additional support needs

Arrangements made to accommodate students with additional support needs and any unavoidable restrictions on their participation in the programme/scheme

Students with disabilities or other support needs will have access to the four-year pathway and are expected to be able to participate fully in this programme. Arrangements will be made, via the normal University support systems, to accommodate students with additional support needs wherever possible, with reasonable adjustments made to accommodate individual needs.
